

Liberal Studies - Health and Human Concerns

"Science is the foundation of an excellent medical education, but a well-rounded humanist is best suited to make the most of that education." Dr. David Muller, Mount Sinai's dean for medical education

Course Suggestions

Humanities:

AMH 4671 - Race, Gender, Science in the Atlantic World (GL) *

LIT 4403 - Literature Among Arts & Sciences

PHI 3320 - Philosophy of Mind

PHI 3400 - Philosophy of Science *

PHI 3454 - Philosophy of Biology *

PHI 4633 - Biomedical Ethics (rigorous)

WST 3015 - Introduction to Global Gender (GRW/GL)

Social sciences:

ANT 3462 - Medical Anthropology

DEP 3305 - Psychology of Adolescence (on campus)

DEP 3404 - Psychology of Adulthood (on campus)

DEP 4164 - Children's Learning (on campus)

IDS 3183 - Health without Borders (GL)

IDS 3189 - International Nutrition, Public Health and Economic Development (GL)

HSA 3111 - Intro to Health Services Administration

HSA 3412C - Cultural Competency in Health Sciences (co-req HSA 3111)

HSC 3661 - Communication Theory and Practice for Health Professions (co-req/pre-req HSA 3111)

PHC 3101 - Intro to Public Health

SOP 3004 - Introductory Social Psychology (on campus)

SOP 3015 - Social and Personality Development (on campus)

SOP 3932 - Psychology of Drugs and Drug Abuse (on campus)

SYO 3400 - Medical Sociology

Writing:

COM 3461 - Intercultural/Interracial Communications (GL)

ENC 3213 - Professional and Technical Writing

* Offered Spring 2018